Nixon orders bombing halt; talks to resume

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has ordered a halt to the bombing of North Vietnam's industrial heartland around Hanoi and Haiphong and Henry Kissinger's secret Paris peace talks will resume Jan. 8, the White House said today.

The order marks an end to the heaviest bombing of the war which began above the 20th parallel Dec. 18. The United States has acknowledged the loss of 27 aircraft and 93 airmen killed, captured or missing since it began.

Deputy press secretary Gerald L. Warren said the President ordered suspension of bombing raids above the 20th parallel "as soon as it was clear serious negotiations could be resumed."

Kissinger's private negotiations with Hanoi politburo member Le Duc Tho and the head of the North Vietnameese delegation in Paris, Xuan Thuy, will be resuming after a halt of nearly one month. The talks broke off Dec. 13 and Nixon began the heaviest bombing of the war on Dec. 18.

Warren said technical talks between experts from both sides will resume Jan. 2. These lower level talks have continued sporadically since Kissinger's sessions reached an impasse.

The White House spokesman refused to say whether Nixon's bombing-halt order already had taken effect. But indications were that it had—or that it would soon.

"The President has ordered that all bombing be discontinued above the 20th parallel as long as serious negotiations are underway," Warren said in his brief announcement.

Hanoi had insisted upon such a bombing halt before talks could resume. When asked whether Nixon had received a signal from Hanoi that the Communists were ready to alter their negotiating stance, Warren responded that he could not yet discuss the content of discussions with the other side.

But he referred to Kissinger's statement on Dec. 16 when the presidential adviser said he would remain in contact with Hanoi and that talks could resume when the other side was ready to meet for serious negotiations.

The White House stressed that the bombing halt applies only above the 20th parallel. This means that the Hanoi and Haiphong heartland will again be off limits to U.S. air attacks but lower portions of North Vietnam will still be subject to bombardment.

Kissinger, who has been vacationing on the West Coast, has been in daily telephone contact with the President and will return to Washington for "extensive conversations" with Nixon before heading for Paris.

Child killed on bicycle

One person was killed and 22 injured in eight area traffic accidents Friday, according to the highway patrol.

Michael Allen Jaco, 11, of Pawpaw, Mich. died in an accident at 7:40 p.m. on Highway 142 in Butler County, two miles south of Poplar Bluff when the bicycle he was riding was struck by a car driven by Gary Lee Melton, 24, of Poplar Bluff. His body was taken to Cotrell Funeral Home in Poplar Bluff.

The accident occurred when Jaco and his brother were riding bicycles on Highway 142. Melton saw the bicycles, applied his brakes, skidded sideways on wet pavement and struck the bicycles. The Melton car came to rest crossways on the northbound lane. A car driven by Van Elvis Lewis, ran into the side of the Melton car.

Four persons were injured at 9:25 a.m. one mile east of Steele at the intersection of Highways 164 and 61 when a pickup driven by William A. Baxter, 63, of Steele Route Three failed to yield and pulled into the path of a car driven by Russell Retman, 59, of Jackson, Miss. The Retman car struck the Baxter car in the left side.

Injured were Baxter with head cuts and possible internal injuries; Russell Retman, possible internal injuries; Dorothy Retman, 57 head cuts; and Allan Retman, 19, multiple face scratches. Baxter was taken to Chickasawba Hospital in Blytheville, Ark. The others went to Pemiscot County Memorial Hospital in Hayti.

Electrical systems spark fires

Fires virtually destroyed one home and heavily damaged another Friday in Sikeston. Both fires were started in the homes' electrical systems, according to firemen.

The Emerson Jackson home at 220 Bowman was destroyed about 8:15 p.m. When firemen arrived, flames had already burned their way through the roof.

Firemen say they brought the fire under control in about 30 minutes and had the blaze extinghished within an hour. The Jackson home was a one- story frame house.

Fire Chief Larry Linnemeyer said winds hampered efforts to control the blaze. One fireman received a bruise and another stepped on a nail during the fire.

A fire broke out at 3:15 Friday afternoon at the Marie Stovall home at 126 S. New Madrid, heavily damaging the two story frame home.

Firemen said faulty wiring apparently set the Christmas tree on fire and the blaze spread to other parts of the home.

At 6:53 p.m. burning trash set fire to grass in a vacant lot at 120 E. Kathleen. The fire was quickly extinguished before any damage could be done.

Firemen were called at 9:30 a.m. today to Cooney Equipment Co. on Highway 61 South where a utility pole had caught on fire.

Firemen say the fire began when the wind blew an electrical line into the pole. Only minor damage resulted.

Death ruled 'natural'

PORTAGEVILLE— The death of George R. Blankenship, 72, whose body was found Friday resulted from natural causes and exposure, according to New Madrid County Coroner Gene Clayton.

Clayton said there was no evidence of foul play and no inquest is scheduled.

Blankenship, who had been missing from his home since Monday, had a heart ailment and was a diabetic, Clayton said.

Two hunters, Clyde Conway and his son Bennie of Lilbourn, discovered the body on a road along a drainage ditch one- half mile north of River Road, west of Lilbourn.

Clayton said the body was lying on the ground at the front of Blankenship's car where he apparently was stricken while trying to get his car unstuck after the rear wheels had become mired deeply in mud.

A retired farmer, he was born Jan. 20, 1900 in Lake County, Tenn., to the late Jeff and Susie Alexander Blankenship. In 1923 he married Frances Flowers, who died in 1936.

Survivors include two daughters, Mrs. Mag Boone and Mrs. Ruth McBee of St. Louis; one son, George

POOR CHARLIE SAYS!

People are more important than tools - if you don't believe it, put a good tool in the hands of a poor workman.

ANOTHER NEW BEGINNING

There is no compelling reason that we observe January 1 as the beginning of a new year.

It matters not to the planet, as it makes its appointed orbital rounds, at what point the self-important little creatures who cling to its surface say that one revolution of the sun has been completed and another begun.

The ancients, in their closeness to and dependence upon the cycles of nature, were actually more sensible about this calendar business than we by marking each new year with the coming of spring and the return of life to the land, or associating it with some other important seasonal event, such as the flooding of the Nile.

It is only in relatively modern times that we have arbitrarily selected January 1 as New Year's Day. The Julian calendar, which began its year on March 25, was, in fact, used by Great Britain and its American colonies until the middle of the 18th century, long after the rest of Christendom had adopted the Gregorian or reformed calendar.

We could argue that January 1 is a logical choice because it comes shortly after the winter solstice, that point in the earth's orbit when the days slowly start growing longer in the Northern Hemisphere.

However, this is purely happenstance, and anyway, for those in the Southern Hemisphere it means just the opposite, that the nights are growing longer and that summer is ending — no particular cause for celebration.

No, there is less reason for us to observe January 1 as the beginning of a new calendar year than there is for the government to continue using July 1 as the beginning of a new fiscal year just because, once upon a time, Congresses finished their legislative work by the end of June.

But New Year's Day also falls hard upon Christmas Day. Perhaps here is a clue to the reasoning behind our calendar, if reasons we need.

With Christmas, comes the memories of Christmases past, that warm feeling of good will toward our fellows that always manifests itself at this season and infects even the Scrooges among us, as well as a sort of summing up in our minds of what we have done, or failed to do, for ourselves and for others during the previous year.

Some of that sentiment, that good will, that resolve to do better in the coming year carries over for at least a week. All the bills, of course, carry over.

Perhaps then it is highly appropriate that our New Year's Day, which in all cultures has been a time to straighten out old debts and make plans and resolutions for the future, should fall during the one period in the year when we are most receptive to thoughts of a new beginning.

Let the astronomers keep track of solstices and equinoxes and solar revolutions. New Year's Day, like Christmas, is something that happens in the heart. And in every heart this day is the same wish:

May it be a Happy New Year.

THE OTHER SIDE OF THE TRACKS

One of the country's most liberal Congressmen has published the results of a poll taken in his district, which happens to be one of the country's most wealthy. The differences between rich liberals and the people who live in the rest of the United States could not be more manifest.

For example, the voters were asked if they believed in "scatter site housing," described as building government subsidized "low income housing in middle income areas." Almost 60% voted affirmatively. But the catch phrase is "middle income." What would the reaction of these same voters have been if it had been suggested that the scatter site housing, frequent hotbeds of crime and drugs, was to be located in high income areas?

On the issues of anti-bussing and aid to non-public schools, some 60% voted "No." But most of the children in this well- to - do Congressional District attended private schools, which exempts them from being bussed many miles away from their homes. Neither do they have to worry about scraping together enough pennies to send their children to non- public schools.

It is the people in the "middle income" areas who have all the worries. Their children are the ones bussed miles away from their neighborhood schools. And it is the parents in the middle income areas who cannot afford the luxury of non- public schools. The first thing the "limosine liberals," in Washington, D. C. did, after passing bussing laws there, was to take their children out of the public schools and send them back to private schools outside of the district. Result; Washington public schools are now more than 90% all black, rather than the 50% white and 50% black enrollment before bussing.

It's too bad that the upper income residents, who think that bussing and scatter site housing and government controlled public schools are so great, cannot cross to the other side of the tracks and see what the real world is like.

FARMERS HIT HARD BY WEATHER

If citified folks think the weather lately has been an abomination of nature, their displeasure is but mild animadversion compared to their country cousins on the farm.

This year has been the worst in decades for many farmers. Needless to say, their disaster is also the consumer's disaster when he goes shipping.

Rain is the cause of the woes, and the Midwest has seen more precipitation over a longer period of time than it has in years. In Missouri's Bootheel, 50 per cent of the soybeans and 60 per cent of the cotton is still in the fields, although they should have been harvested some time ago. In some areas the situation is worse.

Natural gas shortages in the Midwest have affected grain dryers; equipment has bogged down and failed in the muddy fields; winter wheat was washed out or couldn't be planted; ice storms have ruined crops; and rains have soaked the cotton and scattered the bean pods.

Nationally, the loss will be in the hundreds of millions, perhaps the billions, of dollars. This is turn affects bankers, dealers, mortgage lenders and so on, as well as the consumer.

So for all the inconvenience of urbanites, things could be worse — they could be farmers.

LABOR BARGAINING FOR GOVERNMENT

Proposed legislation providing a federal system to regulate labor relations for government employees on the state and local level contains fundamental defects, the National Association of Manufacturers said in a statement submitted to the Senate subcommittee on labor.

The legislation is based on the assumption that government bargaining is analogous to private bargaining between companies and unions, NAM explained, and that concepts and procedures that have been utilized in the private sector are applicable to government employees. There is a fundamental difference, according to the NAM statement.

Because the financial limits set by the legislature for compensating government employees are publicly known, the outside limits on these expenditures become the targets for the spokesmen representing government workers and negotiation centers upon them, the Association said.

In government service negotiations, the limits are known and quickly reached, the NAM said. They cannot be exceeded by government administrators without violating both the public trust and the requirement for continuation of governmental services without interruption.

"There are other important differences," the statement said. "There can be no labor market, in the classic sense, for those who insist upon public service careers except for a possible choice of jobs between divisions of government.

WHY PROPERTY TAXES ARE UP

Three decades ago, only about 12 per cent of the real property in the U. S. was tax-exempt. Today the figure has risen to 30 per cent, with valuations of more than $325 billion -- according to one authority, "more than the combined total real estate in the 20 largest cities in the United States."

LOOK AGAIN

Critics of the "establishment" -- considered to be the entire business and industrial structure of the country -- charge that it contributes nothing to the solution of today's most pressing problems. Yet, look what happens when there is a slight slowdown in business. Suddenly government tax revenue falls off, and government at all levels is more hard - pressed then ever to pay its bills. Deficits climb.

Time magazine reports, "The fiscal - 1971 deficit is the unforeseen result of a $20 billion forecasting error; Nixon had originally budgeted a $1.3 billion surplus. His projections were knocked askew by the recession, which is holding revenues about $8 billion below early estimates and forcing higher spending for such things as unemployment compensation and interest on the national debt."

The greatest asset any country can have is prosperous, taxpaying enterprise -- the kind that the dissidents call the "establishment". Without such enterprise, it is idle to talk of progress -- social or otherwise. Even a minor recession makes what should be a self-evident truth stand out in bold relief.

FREE BOOK BUILDS CUSTOMERS LIST

Ralph M. Parsons Company, Los Angeles (Engineers - Contractors), prepared a book "Professional Advancement for Engineers Through Communications Techniques'. To get it into the hands of qualified engineers and to build a mailing list for their house organ, the book was offered free to engineers through fractional page advertisements in technical magazines during the 1st quarter of 1969.

As of September 1969, a total of 5,096 replies had been received at an average cost of $2.50 each. Over 99% of the requests were typed on company letterheads with job titles given. Of the total, 4,816 were from qualified engineers for an effectiveness reating of 94%. Since then, an additional 200 requests have been received giving the percentages an even better shake.

The company's experience refutes the frequently expressed claim that offers for free literature are wasted on students and curiosity seekers.

"He was there last year," replied the girl.

FULL SPEED AHEAD

Natural gas shortages during the past two winters caused some gas utility companies to turn down new customers, and forced some manufacturing plants to close, throwing people out of work. However, the Federal Power Commission's power to "rollback" prices continues to hamper expansion of natural gas reserves.

Congress is considering corrective legislation which would guarantee to producers, once a contract has been approved, that they can be assured of its validity and not be subject to FPC rollback. This would eliminate an element of uncertainty which has helped to inhibit development of additional supplies of natural gas.

In addition, Federal leasing regulations should encourage American business to apply technical and capital resources to tap new supply services. For example, in regard to oil shale lands under government control, royalties should be reasonable in amount and structure so as to encourage efficient operations.

These changes would go a long way towards assuring a sound financial and economic structure that would encourage producers to help meet present as well as future energy needs.

Several years ago when Pillsbury came out with their prepared cake mixes, a buyer for a large chain told the Pillsbury salesman that he wasn't about to take a chance on a product that hadn't proved itself. The next day, the salesman showed up at the buyer's office with a freshly-baked, iced cake, left it without a word and walked out. He did this the following week and again for the next ten weeks.

On his 12th call, the buyer said to him: "You believe in your cake mixes, don't you?"

"Yes, I do," the salesman replied. "I never baked a thing before in my life until I baked and iced these cakes for you from Pillsbury cake mixes. Have they proven themselves?"

The buyer smiled. "Come inside, I want to talk with you."

And that is how the giant A&P chain was persuaded to handle the Pillsbury line of cake mixes.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

WASHINGTON--- In the White House Cabinet Room at about 10 a.m. Wednesday, all the labor leaders got a Christmas present-- a game. A real game much like Monopoly or Parcheesi or Risk. Assistant to the President (more like assistant president) George Shultz had it custom- made opening like a chessboard with spinners. And the name of the game, "Designed and Produced for the National Museum of History and Technology," is "Productivity."

A short while later, President Nixon dropped in on the National Commission of Productivity's revived labor section session. He flew directly by helicopter from the Bethesda Naval Hospital, where his annual checkup- Hanoi or no-- revealed enviable untra-normal presidential blood pressure. He stayed for 20 minutes, and being a George Meany watcher, cigar and all, distributed official presidential ashtrays.

The mood was high. No one, not the pragmatic Seafarers' chief Paul Hall, nor any of the other AFL— CIO vice presidents, nor the Teamsters' and auto union leaders, nor the Labor Secretary- designate Pete Brennan, said anything like, beware the bearer of gifts. The tension was gone. So was last year's hostility over the Pay Board from which Meany and company had taken their traditional angry walk.

All this had been carefully worked out. Not staged-- but developed in stages as though all were sitting down for a Treaty of Paris rite. Treasury Secretary Shultz, who soon enough will replace Henry Kissinger in the news, had quietly slipped into Meany's eighth floor sanctum at noon on Tuesday. It is reported they discussed the next day's meeting-- and labor's possible return to a reconstructed pay and price control board and certainly whether or not Meany and colleagues would fight the President's bid for a congressional extension of his economic stabilization powers.

In conversations around the White House and in labor headquarters I learned that labor has virtually decided to return.

But first-- as Meany asked Shultz in the Cabinet Room where the powerful labor chiefs faced Mr. Nixon's flying squad now consisting of Cost of Living Council director Don Rumsfeld (who contemplates running against Illinois's Sen. Adlai Stevenson in '74) and Council of Economic Advisors chairman Herbert Stein-- what are the Phase Three specifics proposed by the President?

Obviously neither Shultz nor the President nor the seven labor chiefs nor Brennan would have sat there in great fraternity, some trying their Productivity spinners, if they thought there would be further bitter battling over renewed controls.

Obviously Shultz and Meany, as was explained early Wednesday morning when the AFL— CIO president met with the Productivity Commission labor contingent, had some agreement and guarantees on broad principles. And obviously there will be some concessions to Meany on tougher control of prices and some cosmetic ceiling on all incomes. That was one of the two irritations expressed Wednesday. The other was over Pay Board delays in processing wage increase contracts signed by unions.

So, unless Richard Nixon resurrects Genghis Khan and names him national economic czar, there will be Phase Three and perhaps Phase Four controls. This was implicit in the light mood, the easy fraternity of the Wednesday morning session. The reconciliation had come all the way.

With this as prelude, there are several vital developments which spring from the two-and- a- half- hour session.

There will be a tightening up of price contols-- especially in food. The labor chiefs were promised the Dept. of Commerce would investigate food costs, all the way from the farm to the supermarket. Then the report would be passed on to the Labor Dept.-- Peter Brennan's Labor Dept. And action would be taken to grind down these prices.

Also, the President made one startling proposal during an otherwise standard recital to the labor leaders of his high opinion of them and their rank and files.

Mark well the following. If implemented, it can have considerable impact on the nation's domestic and foreign policies. The President asked them to forward to him, through Brennan, names of labor people to serve in all-- repeat all-- sections of the government, not just the Labor Dept. This means State, Commerce, Agriculture, etc.

Later Brennan spelled it out for the labor leaders. This impressed them. This would break them out of their old territory. This reportedly impressed Meany as much as the nationwide economic progress he told Shultz he was happy to see. Not even Jack Kennedy, certainly not Franklin Roosevelt-- Meany's first antagonist -- had done this for labor. In a sense it would take many of their leaders out of a political provincialism. And it could affect the course and even nature of this government-- perhaps from the Supreme Court to mass transportation and the embassies of the world.

So, laden with ashtrays, games and unusual promises they left-- and are on call,

JACK ANDERSON SAYS:

Build- up of Viet Air Force Gives Wings to Drug Traffic

By Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON-- The feverish U.S. effort to build up the South Vietnamese air force, apparently, is giving wings to the opium smugglers in Southeast Asia.

This is the ironic conclusion to be drawn from a new, highly classified General Accounting Office report on worldwide opium traffic. Numbered copies of the 151- page document, classified "Secret," have been distributed to a few top Administration and congressional leaders.

The report declares bluntly that "the Vietnamese military, especially the Air Force" could not be trusted and should be subjected to tougher "customs controls."

Thai dope runners are working with the air force brass, the report suggests, to smuggle opium into South Vietnam by air. But Vietnamese officials have been unable to stop it because "there were just simply too many military airfields (about 300) and too few customs officials."

Yet the United States has been turning over to the South Vietnamese air force the very types of planes most useful for transporting illegal drugs. These include fat C- 130 transports, UH- 1 helicopters and prop- driven, A- 1 fighters.

In the gloomiest assessment we have ever seen of the dope problem in Vietnam, the secret report contradicts official propaganda about South Vietnamese— American cooperation on narcotics and cites estimates that "only an insignificant amount of heroin had actually been interdicted and seized."

--Heroin for GI's--

The top U.S. drug suppression coordinator in Vietnam is quoted in the report as saying: "Even if (Saigon and Washington) were totally successful from now on in stopping all heroin from entering Vietnam, there (is) enough heroin in- country to keep every soldier high until the last U.S. serviceman has withdrawn from South Vietnam."

The reason smuggling can't be brought under control, of course, is corruption throughout the Saigon government. The GAO report describes one secret meeting, for example, between United States Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker and South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu.

"The U.S. Ambassador again met with the Vietnamese President," states the report, "to discuss the progress of a campaign...against smuggling and narcotics."

After an exchange of polite words, "the Vietnamese President was told, however, that the results of the antidrug campaign thus far had not been sufficient to remove the issue as a threat to continued American support.

"Arrests to date had been mostly of small peddlers and street pushers, who were not adequately punished when brought to trial. The Ambassador stated that it was essential that big traffickers be investigated, prosecuted and severely punished."

But, invariably, diplomatic pressure would produce only a small flurry of activity and then the corruption would take hold again.

Or, as the secret report succinctly puts it: "Vietnamese officials acknowledged that there were still significant problem areas."

--Washington Whirl--

COMMERCIAL RETALIATION-- The French, whose supersonic Concorde jet has been stopped from landing at U.S. airports because of its banshee- like noise, are threatening commercial retaliation against the United States. In San Francisco, French scientific attache Francis Latapie confided recently to American engineers that U.S. insistence on lower noise levels for the Concorde could lead to "retaliation" by government-controlled French and English airlines. This, he said, "will start...a commercial war." In Washington, a French embassy spokesman admitted that delicate talks have been going on between Franco-English representatives and American environmental and aviation agencies. But he said Latapie's view was certainly not the official French position.

COKE'S RESPONSE-- Our report that Coca Cola was raising a private war chest to preserve its franchise system brought howls of outrage from Coke's bigwigs. Some charged we were unfair for saying their franchise arrangements cost consumers up to a nickel a bottle. But at least one gutsy Coke bottler, Pope Foster, president of Coca- Cola Bottling Co., Taft, Calif., agreed with us. He said our story was "factual" and added he is himself suing Coke for just the kind of activities we described. Foster's suit alleges that Coke won't give him enough concentrate to serve customers so he can compete with larger bottlers.

MICROWAVE VERDICT-- For years, we have warned that overexposure to faulty microwave ovens and military radar can cause cataracts-- sometimes years later. The federal government, particularly the Pentagon, has tried to minimize the danger. After all, an admission would mean millions of dollars worth of changes in military electronic hardware that now gives off high levels of microwaves. The Veterans Administration's prestigious Board of Veterans Appeals, however, has broken with the military to rule that the cataracts which partially blinded an ex- Navy radar man 10 to 15 years after his discharge were caused by microwaves. While turning down the veteran, Arthur Kay, on disability from various other ailments, the VA board said in its unprecedented ruling that "entitlement to service connection for bilateral cataracts is established."

ANOTHER NEW BEGINNING

There is no compelling reason that we observe January 1 as the beginning of a new year.

It matters not to the planet, as it makes its appointed orbital rounds, at what point the self-important little creatures who cling to its surface say that one revolution of the sun has been completed and another begun.

The ancients, in their closeness to and dependence upon the cycles of nature, were actually more sensible about this calendar business than we by marking each new year with the coming of spring and the return of life to the land, or associating it with some other important seasonal event, such as the flooding of the Nile.

It is only in relatively modern times that we have arbitrarily selected January 1 as New Year's Day. The Julian calendar, which began its year on March 25, was, in fact, used by Great Britain and its American colonies until the middle of the 18th century, long after the rest of Christendom had adopted the Gregorian or reformed calendar.

We could argue that January 1 is a logical choice because it comes shortly after the winter solstice, that point in the earth's orbit when the days slowly start growing longer in the Northern Hemisphere.

However, this is purely happenstance, and anyway, for those in the Southern Hemisphere it means just the opposite, that the nights are growing longer and that summer is ending — no particular cause for celebration.

No, there is less reason for us to observe January 1 as the beginning of a new calendar year than there is for the government to continue using July 1 as the beginning of a new fiscal year just because, once upon a time, Congresses finished their legislative work by the end of June.

But New Year's Day also falls hard upon Christmas Day. Perhaps here is a clue to the reasoning behind our calendar, if reasons we need.

With Christmas, comes the memories of Christmases past, that warm feeling of good will toward our fellows that always manifests itself at this season and infects even the Scrooges among us, as well as a sort of summing up in our minds of what we have done, or failed to do, for ourselves and for others during the previous year.

Some of that sentiment, that good will, that resolve to do better in the coming year carries over for at least a week. All the bills, of course, carry over.

Perhaps then it is highly appropriate that our New Year's Day, which in all cultures has been a time to straighten out old debts and make plans and resolutions for the future, should fall during the one period in the year when we are most receptive to thoughts of a new beginning.

Let the astronomers keep track of solstices and equinoxes and solar revolutions. New Year's Day, like Christmas, is something that happens in the heart. And in every heart this day is the same wish:

May it be a Happy New Year.

THE OTHER SIDE OF THE TRACKS

One of the country's most liberal Congressmen has published the results of a poll taken in his district, which happens to be one of the country's most wealthy. The differences between rich liberals and the people who live in the rest of the United States could not be more manifest.

For example, the voters were asked if they believed in "scatter site housing," described as building government subsidized "low income housing in middle income areas." Almost 60% voted affirmatively. But the catch phrase is "middle income." What would the reaction of these same voters have been if it had been suggested that the scatter site housing, frequent hotbeds of crime and drugs, was to be located in high income areas?

On the issues of anti-bussing and aid to non-public schools, some 60% voted "No." But most of the children in this well- to - do Congressional District attended private schools, which exempts them from being bussed many miles away from their homes. Neither do they have to worry about scraping together enough pennies to send their children to non- public schools.

It is the people in the "middle income" areas who have all the worries. Their children are the ones bussed miles away from their neighborhood schools. And it is the parents in the middle income areas who cannot afford the luxury of non- public schools. The first thing the "limosine liberals," in Washington, D. C. did, after passing bussing laws there, was to take their children out of the public schools and send them back to private schools outside of the district. Result; Washington public schools are now more than 90% all black, rather than the 50% white and 50% black enrollment before bussing.

It's too bad that the upper income residents, who think that bussing and scatter site housing and government controlled public schools are so great, cannot cross to the other side of the tracks and see what the real world is like.

KNOWNS HIS WAY AROUND

A six year old came rushing home from school and was just filled up with good news. She had to tell her mother all about her new boy friend.

"He is so smart," she said. "He just knows all about the first grade."

"How come he knows so much?" the mother asked.

"He was there last year," replied the girl.

FULL SPEED AHEAD

Natural gas shortages during the past two winters caused some gas utility companies to turn down new customers, and forced some manufacturing plants to close, throwing people out of work. However, the Federal Power Commission's power to "rollback" prices continues to hamper expansion of natural gas reserves.

Congress is considering corrective legislation which would guarantee to producers, once a contract has been approved, that they can be assured of its validity and not be subject to FPC rollback. This would eliminate an element of uncertainty which has helped to inhibit development of additional supplies of natural gas.

In addition, Federal leasing regulations should encourage American business to apply technical and capital resources to tap new supply services. For example, in regard to oil shale lands under government control, royalties should be reasonable in amount and structure so as to encourage efficient operations.

These changes would go a long way towards assuring a sound financial and economic structure that would encourage producers to help meet present as well as future energy needs.

BUYER TAKES THE CAKE

Several years ago when Pillsbury came out with their prepared cake mixes, a buyer for a large chain told the Pillsbury salesman that he wasn't about to take a chance on a product that hadn't proved itself. The next day, the salesman showed up at the buyer's office with a freshly-baked, iced cake, left it without a word and walked out. He did this the following week and again for the next ten weeks.

On his 12th call, the buyer said to him: "You believe in your cake mixes, don't you?"

"Yes, I do," the salesman replied. "I never baked a thing before in my life until I baked and iced these cakes for you from Pillsbury cake mixes. Have they proven themselves?"

The buyer smiled. "Come inside, I want to talk with you."

And that is how the giant A&P chain was persuaded to handle the Pillsbury line of cake mixes.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

WASHINGTON— In the White House Cabinet Room at about 10 a.m. Wednesday, all the labor leaders got a Christmas present-- a game. A real game much like Monopoly or Parcheesi or Risk. Assistant to the President (more like assistant president) George Shultz had it custom- made opening like a chessboard with spinners. And the name of the game, "Designed and Produced for the National Museum of History and Technology," is "Productivity."

A short while later, President Nixon dropped in on the National Commission of Productivity's revived labor section session. He flew directly by helicopter from the Bethesda Naval Hospital, where his annual checkup- Hanoi or no-- revealed enviable untra-normal presidential blood pressure. He stayed for 20 minutes, and being a George Meany watcher, cigar and all, distributed official presidential ashtrays.

The mood was high. No one, not the pragmatic Seafarers' chief Paul Hall, nor any of the other AFL— CIO vice presidents, nor the Teamsters' and auto union leaders, nor the Labor Secretary- designate Pete Brennan, said anything like, beware the bearer of gifts. The tension was gone. So was last year's hostility over the Pay Board from which Meany and company had taken their traditional angry walk.

All this had been carefully worked out. Not staged-- but developed in stages as though all were sitting down for a Treaty of Paris rite. Treasury Secretary Shultz, who soon enough will replace Henry Kissinger in the news, had quietly slipped into Meany's eighth floor sanctum at noon on Tuesday. It is reported they discussed the next day's meeting-- and labor's possible return to a reconstructed pay and price control board and certainly whether or not Meany and colleagues would fight the President's bid for a congressional extension of his economic stabilization powers.

In conversations around the White House and in labor headquarters I learned that labor has virtually decided to return.

But first-- as Meany asked Shultz in the Cabinet Room where the powerful labor chiefs faced Mr. Nixon's flying squad now consisting of Cost of Living Council director Don Rumsfeld (who contemplates running against Illinois's Sen. Adlai Stevenson in '74) and Council of Economic Advisors chairman Herbert Stein-- what are the Phase Three specifics proposed by the President?

Obviously neither Shultz nor the President nor the seven labor chiefs nor Brennan would have sat there in great fraternity, some trying their Productivity spinners, if they thought there would be further bitter battling over renewed controls.

Obviously Shultz and Meany, as was explained early Wednesday morning when the AFL— CIO president met with the Productivity Commission labor contingent, had some agreement and guarantees on broad principles. And obviously there will be some concessions to Meany on tougher control of prices and some cosmetic ceiling on all incomes. That was one of the two irritations expressed Wednesday. The other was over Pay Board delays in processing wage increase contracts signed by unions.

So, unless Richard Nixon resurrects Genghis Khan and names him national economic czar, there will be Phase Three and perhaps Phase Four controls. This was implicit in the light mood, the easy fraternity of the Wednesday morning session. The reconciliation had come all the way.

With this as prelude, there are several vital developments which spring from the two-and- a- half- hour session.

There will be a tightening up of price contols-- especially in food. The labor chiefs were promised the Dept. of Commerce would investigate food costs, all the way from the farm to the supermarket. Then the report would be passed on to the Labor Dept.-- Peter Brennan's Labor Dept. And action would be taken to grind down these prices.

Also, the President made one startling proposal during an otherwise standard recital to the labor leaders of his high opinion of them and their rank and files.

Mark well the following. If implemented, it can have considerable impact on the nation's domestic and foreign policies. The President asked them to forward to him, through Brennan, names of labor people to serve in all-- repeat all-- sections of the government, not just the Labor Dept. This means State, Commerce, Agriculture, etc.

Later Brennan spelled it out for the labor leaders. This impressed them. This would break them out of their old territory. This reportedly impressed Meany as much as the nationwide economic progress he told Shultz he was happy to see. Not even Jack Kennedy, certainly not Franklin Roosevelt-- Meany's first antagonist -- had done this for labor. In a sense it would take many of their leaders out of a political provincialism. And it could affect the course and even nature of this government-- perhaps from the Supreme Court to mass transportation and the embassies of the world.

So, laden with ashtrays, games and unusual promises they left-- and are on call.

JACK ANDERSON SAYS:

Build- up of Viet Air Force Gives Wings to Drug Traffic

By Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON-- The feverish U.S. effort to build up the South Vietnamese air force, apparently, is giving wings to the opium smugglers in Southeast Asia.

This is the ironic conclusion to be drawn from a new, highly classified General Accounting Office report on worldwide opium traffic. Numbered copies of the 151- page document, classified "Secret," have been distributed to a few top Administration and congressional leaders.

The report declares bluntly that "the Vietnamese military, especially the Air Force" could not be trusted and should be subjected to tougher "customs controls."

Thai dope runners are working with the air force brass, the report suggests, to smuggle opium into South Vietnam by air. But Vietnamese officials have been unable to stop it because "there were just simply too many military airfields (about 300) and too few customs officials."

Yet the United States has been turning over to the South Vietnamese air force the very types of planes most useful for transporting illegal drugs. These include fat C- 130 transports, UH- 1 helicopters and prop- driven, A- 1 fighters.

In the gloomiest assessment we have ever seen of the dope problem in Vietnam, the secret report contradicts official propaganda about South Vietnamese— American cooperation on narcotics and cites estimates that "only an insignificant amount of heroin had actually been interdicted and seized."

--Heroin for GI's--

The top U.S. drug suppression coordinator in Vietnam is quoted in the report as saying: "Even if (Saigon and Washington) were totally successful from now on in stopping all heroin from entering Vietnam, there (is) enough heroin in- country to keep every soldier high until the last U.S. serviceman has withdrawn from South Vietnam."

The reason smuggling can't be brought under control, of course, is corruption throughout the Saigon government. The GAO report describes one secret meeting, for example, between United States Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker and South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu.

"The U.S. Ambassador again met with the Vietnamese President," states the report, "to discuss the progress of a campaign...against smuggling and narcotics."

After an exchange of polite words, "the Vietnamese President was told, however, that the results of the antidrug campaign thus far had not been sufficient to remove the issue as a threat to continued American support.

"Arrests to date had been mostly of small peddlers and street pushers, who were not adequately punished when brought to trial. The Ambassador stated that it was essential that big traffickers be investigated, prosecuted and severely punished."

But, invariably, diplomatic pressure would produce only a small flurry of activity and then the corruption would take hold again.

Or, as the secret report succinctly puts it: "Vietnamese officials acknowledged that there were still significant problem areas."

--Washington Whirl--

COMMERCIAL RETALIATION-- The French, whose supersonic Concorde jet has been stopped from landing at U.S. airports because of its banshee- like noise, are threatening commercial retaliation against the United States. In San Francisco, French scientific attache Francis Latapie confided recently to American engineers that U.S. insistence on lower noise levels for the Concorde could lead to "retaliation" by government-controlled French and English airlines. This, he said, "will start...a commercial war." In Washington, a French embassy spokesman admitted that delicate talks have been going on between Franco-English representatives and American environmental and aviation agencies. But he said Latapie's view was certainly not the official French position.

COKE'S RESPONSE-- Our report that Coca Cola was raising a private war chest to preserve its franchise system brought howls of outrage from Coke's bigwigs. Some charged we were unfair for saying their franchise arrangements cost consumers up to a nickel a bottle. But at least one gutsy Coke bottler, Pope Foster, president of Coca- Cola Bottling Co., Taft, Calif., agreed with us. He said our story was "factual" and added he is himself suing Coke for just the kind of activities we described. Foster's suit alleges that Coke won't give him enough concentrate to serve customers so he can compete with larger bottlers.

MICROWAVE VERDICT-- For years, we have warned that overexposure to faulty microwave ovens and military radar can cause cataracts-- sometimes years later. The federal government, particularly the Pentagon, has tried to minimize the danger. After all, an admission would mean millions of dollars worth of changes in military electronic hardware that now gives off high levels of microwaves. The Veterans Administration's prestigious Board of Veterans Appeals, however, has broken with the military to rule that the cataracts which partially blinded an ex- Navy radar man 10 to 15 years after his discharge were caused by microwaves. While turning down the veteran, Arthur Kay, on disability from various other ailments, the VA board said in its unprecedented ruling that "entitlement to service connection for bilateral cataracts is established."

Developmental council will meet January 2

POPLAR BLUFF — The Council of Developmental Disabilities of Region Eight will meet at 7:45 p.m. Tuesday at Poplar Bluff Regional Diagnostic Clinic.

The council is inviting any interested persons in the community to discuss the availability of federal funds for developing programs to serve the handicapped in this area.

The Developmental Disabilities Act provides funds to start new programs, fill gaps in services, and in general improve programs for the retarded, cerebral palsied and epileptic children. It also covers other neurological handicapping conditions of an individual found to be closely related to mental retardation, or to require treatment similar to that required by mentally retarded individuals.

The council is presenting a program to explain what has been done to the present time in this area and also talk about ways of improving services and explain how each community may go about obtaining funds to develop new services.

Communities may apply for grants to help fund programs, such as sheltered workshops, day-care centers, recreation services, special living arrangements, and transportation. There are also funds available for other services.

The council is interested in helping every community in Region Eight become aware of what is being done to provide services for the developmentally disabled.

93 survive Everglades crash

MIAMI (AP) — An Eastern Air Lines TriStar carrying 171 persons crashed into the Everglades late Friday night, spilling men, women and children into the murky waters of the swamp. Authorities said more than half survived the crash, the first fatal accident involving a new breed of planes called jumbo jets.

The Coast Guard and federal officials said 93 survivors were pulled from the wreckage, water and muck by rescuers laboring in darkness in the desolate and virtually inaccessible swamp.

The search for the living and the dead continued past dawn today.

The plane broke apart on impact and at morning's light pieces of it dotted a quartermile gash in the swamp.

The survivors, injured and frightened, were picked up by shallow draft air boats and helicopters which hovered over the crash site.

John H. Reede, chairman of the National Transportation Safety Board, said 93 survivors had been identified and "it would appear that about 78 are dead." The airline passenger list showed 167 aboard, including 13 crew, but Reede said the four others aboard were babies and were not listed.

Reede said the reason for the "almost incredible fact" that there were so many survivors could be "nature of the terrain, the water in the Everglades environment. This cushioned the impact."

He said there was no evidence of fire in the plane before or after the crash. He said there was no evidence of an explosion although this and other possibilities were being investigated.

The wide-bodied Lockheed L1011 was en route from New York to Miami when it crashed just before midnight Friday, 17 miles northwest of Miami International Airport. The cause of the crash was not known at once, but an Eastern spokesman said there was no word from the pilot.

The three-engine, $15 million plane, which is capable of carrying 226 passengers, had been cleared for landing. Weather and visibility both were good.

Robert K. Bingham, Eastern's flight training supervisor, said the plane would normally have been cruising at 225 miles per hour at an elevation of 1,500 feet at the distance from the airport.

'User fee' questioned

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — A critical audit of state Park Board operations questioned the legality of a new "user fee" to be charged state park visitors starting Jan. 1.

But Park Director Joseph Jaeger Jr. said he would have no comment on the audit report issued Friday until he has a chance to confer with his sixmember bipartisan board.

The audit covered the period from mid-1968 to last June 30. It questioned 16 Park Board practices, charging illegal operations in some and poor management in others.

The report recommended collection of the user fees be deferred until their legality can be determined. It noted Atty. Gen. John C. Danforth held two years ago an "entrance" fee would be illegal and in the opinion of the auditors a "user" fee was just as illegal.

The report also criticized use of $2,344,539 in federal funds to build the Lee C. Fine Memorial Airport at Lake of the Ozarks State Park without a legislative appropriation and charged this violated several laws.

It also leveled blanket criticism at such management practices as accounting, purchasing, inventory control, instate air travel buying insurance without bidding and allowing employes to engage in political activity.

Auditors found the superintendent was also the concessionaire at Big Lake State Park, although the jobs are separate, and the wife of the Mark Twain park superintendent was the concessionaire.

Teachers, board settle dispute

NEW MADRID— A settlement has been reached between the New Madrid R-1 Board of Education and the Community Teacher Association of the New Madrid County R-1 enlarged school district over salary, policy and operational procedure.

The CTA commented that the settlement "clears the way for improvements in several areas and will result in a more cooperative spirit among those interested in the educational future of children within the school district."

An immediate resumption of negotiations concerning educational philosophy and policies for the ensuing year has been scheduled.

In October, the CTA membership voted not to unionize, a step which was being considered in hopes that it would make the policies of the school board and administration "more responsive to what the teachers believe is necessary action."

At that time, the organization cited unresolved issues with the school board as salary increases, sick leave policy, lack of a published financial report and the need for better communication between the teachers and school board in negotiating policies.

Judges to be sworn at Tuesday ceremony

KENNETT— The Dunklin County Bar Association will conduct a public ceremony at 2 p.m. Tuesday, Jan. 2, 1973, in the courtroom of the Dunklin County Courthouse in Kennett for the administering of the oaths of office to Court of Appeals Judge William H. Billings and Circuit Judge Flake L. McHaney.

Supreme Court Judge John E. Bardgett of Jefferson City will administer the oath to Judge Billings and Judge Billings will administer the oath to Judge McHaney.

Judge Billings, who has served as Circuit Judge of Dunklin and Stoddard Counties since November of 1966, was appointed to the Missouri Court of Appeals, Springfield District, by Governor Warren E. Hearnes under Missouri's non-partisan court plan. Judge McHaney was selected by Governor Hearnes to fill the 35th Judicial Circuit bench vacancy.

Governor and Mrs. Hearnes will attend the ceremonies for the two Kennett men.

Following the courtroom proceedings, which will be open to the public, the Dunklin County Bar Association will host a reception honoring the two new judges at the Kennett Country Club for members of the Bar, visiting judges and attorneys, and out- of- town guests.

Holiday hair styles glow

CASUAL, DELUXE — Cut, color and care are watchwords of fashionable hair designs from Paris. Jacques Dessagne rolls hair into a tiny chignon "en escargot" and fastens it at the crown with tortoise shell pins. Wisps of fine tendrils fall from the hairline to frame the face. For evening, hair is all sophistication and feminity. Smooth hairstyles end in a braided chignon at the nape of the neck, fastened with a braid. Shorter hair is news for the future, especially cut round as a ball to accent the cheekbones and flatter the face with a long fringe of bangs that sweep to the side. The style can be worn smooth and sleek or fluffed and frothy. All are from Helene Curtis.

Comedienne's complaint

Carol Burnett suffers by typecasting

By DICK KLEINER

HOLLYWOOD — (NEA) — Carol Burnett has a problem. She's too Carolburnettish.

Millions of Americans, her loyal and devoted fans, might not consider that bad at all. They love her just as she is—zany, quirky, wild, wonderful. But that is exactly the problem. Too many people know her as the Carol Burnett of the television show.

Now she's branching out. She's made a movie, "Pete 'n' Tillie," with Walter Matthau. She thinks she could have done it better, if she wasn't so established in the world's weary eye as to who she is.

"It's a straight role," she says, "but the opening scene could be construed as being a sketch. In order to compensate so the audience doesn't get the wrong idea, I sat on myself and underplayed.

"I'm sure people expect me to come swinging in on a chandelier with my eyes crossed. I had to go completely the other way so they'd know this wasn't just another sketch with Harvey Korman.

"I'm sure people expect me to come swinging in on a chandelier with my eyes crossed."

"I'd have liked to have been a little more animated in the film, but I couldn't."

She is as excited about this movie as anything she's ever done. It's only her second feature. The first was a film called "Who's Been Sleeping in My Bed?" that was declared a disaster area. So it's really her first.

It all came from out of darkest left field. She had long wanted to do movies but was realistic. She says she knew she'd never get to play the love interest opposite Cary Grant or Paul Newman or Robert Redford.

But she felt that someday she might get a crack at a comedy lead with Jack Lemmon or Walter Matthau. Those were two actors she admired. Two she felt she could possibly work with. And then, one day, Matthau called her.

They had met only twice. Once, she had gone backstage to see him after he did "The Odd Couple." Another time they met at a surprise birthday party somebody gave for Jack Lemmon. Both meetings were brief.

"When he called me for 'Pete 'n' Tillie' I was stunned," she says.

But she quickly got herself un-stunned enough to say yes. It turned out to be a delicious experience. But, she says, she wishes she could do it all over.

"I've learned," she says. "Oh, Lord, how I've learned. I learned from Walter and I learned from myself. If I ever get a crack at another film I'll be able to use what I've learned."

Chances are good she'll get that third crack and many more. She's probably in the top five on everybody's list of most popular female entertainers today. But don't be afraid that she'll desert her first love, television. She won't.

"I'm a child of the tube," Carol says. "I love the excitement of it."

She was as excited about her big TV special, "Once Upon a Mattress," as she is about "Pete 'n' Tillie." The CBS-TV show was the second time around for that property, a musical she first created off-Broadway.

Give Carol Burnett a miserable day and she's in ecstasy.

She still hopes some day to do "Once Upon a Mattress" as a feature film. It's too expensive—if it's done right—for today's movie budgets but maybe someday it will be done.

Rain on the night it shows means good luck to her. It rained on the night "Once Upon a Mattress" first opened. It rained the day she was hired for her first regular TV job with Garry Moore. The night she and Julie Andrews did their Carnegie Hall special it sleeted and when they did their Lincoln Center special there was a thunderstorm.

"I love it," she says, "because it's a fairy tale that appeals to adults on one level and the kids enjoy it on the surface. It's really a timeless story."

Between the special, the movie and her regular TV show it's a full life for Carol Burnett. She'd like to do more movies, but good scripts are hard to come by.

"My fantasy," she says, "is to do a movie a year, my series or else five or six specials, and a play here for a few weeks each year. The hard part of that is to find a good movie script.

"I get a lot of scripts sent to me but they are mostly extensions of what I do on my show. Why should I get up at 5 a.m. to do the same thing I do now, getting up much later?"

Ann Landers

Ann says 24-year-old not ready for old folks home

Ann Landers Sat. Dec. 30

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a 24-year- old working girl with two years of college. I appreciate good literature, good art, good music and good conversation. I'm fairly attractive though no beauty. I have no visible drawbacks. I'm not too fat or too thin, too short or too tall. I don't have acne, buck teeth, knock- knees, or bowlegs. I have two eyes, one each on the opposite sides of my face.

I work in a high- class retail establishment and I see women all day long. Most of them are poorly groomed-- fat, sloppy broads, short- tempered, shrill-voiced, and they yell in public like fishwives at their ill-mannered kids. Yet it is apparent that at least ONE person wanted to marry each dame. If the meantime here I sit, unclaimed, unpursued and unwanted with nothing in sight. Why do good girls finish last?--- Bitter Mystery Of Life

Dear Ms.: Some of those "broads" got fat and sloppy AFTER marriage, and their voices became shrill from yelling at their kids. Twenty-four is still a far cry from the Old Folks Home. The trick isn't to GET married, honey, but to make a decent selection that sticks. It's worth waiting for. Relax.

Dear Ann Landers: Here's the situation in a nutshell-- and I DO mean nutshell. Ever since I've known this married couple she's had two closets jammed full of dresses. Last week her sex- starved husband confided to me that his wife insists on a new dress as reimbursement for every act of "love."

Question: What's the difference between this woman who is legally married and a prostitute?---H.J.

Dear H.J.: Most prostitutes insist on money. But fundamentally the principle is the same.

Incidentally, if the wife's closet is jammed full of dresses, how do you figure her husband is sex- starved?

Dear Ann Landers: I am a married woman who had four babies in five years. They are more than I can handle and I do not want a larger family. Neither does my husband. He was seriously considering a vasectomy but gave up the idea when he read of the side effects that a few men have experienced. Although his doctor assured him that 95 per cent of the men who have had vasectomies have had no trouble whatever, he has cooled toward the idea and I can understand why.

Last week he suggested that I have my tubes tied but I am afraid to do it. A few of my friends have told me that this is not 100 per cent safe. They say tubes can come untied and pregnancy is possible.

Will you please check with your medical consultants and get me the right answer? If you say tube tying is 100 per cent certain I will do it.--- Need Guidance

Dear Need: Very few things in this world are 100 per cent anything. There are bound to be exceptions, for one reason or another. A tubal ligation, if performed properly, is about as safe as you can get.

Confidential to Heartsick Sister: No, do NOT tell her. It would serve no useful purpose and it might cause a great deal of agony. You have no real evidence that the woman was his mistress. Forget it.

What's prudish? What's O.K.? If you aren't sure, you need some help. It's available in the booklet: "Necking And Petting-- What Are The Limits?" Mail your request to Ann Landers in care of your newspaper, enclosing 50c in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Ann Landers

Ann says 24-year-old not ready for old folks home

Ann Landers Sat. Dec. 30

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a 24-year- old working girl with two years of college. I appreciate good literature, good art, good music and good conversation. I'm fairly attractive though no beauty. I have no visible drawbacks. I'm not too fat or too thin, too short or too tall. I don't have acne, buck teeth, knock- knees, or bowlegs. I have two eyes, one each on the opposite sides of my face.

I work in a high- class retail establishment and I see women all day long. Most of them are poorly groomed-- fat, sloppy broads, short- tempered, shrill-voiced, and they yell in public like fishwives at their ill-mannered kids. Yet it is apparent that at least ONE person wanted to marry each dame. If the meantime here I sit, unclaimed, unpursued and unwanted with nothing in sight. Why do good girls finish last?--- Bitter Mystery Of Life

Dear Ms.: Some of those "broads" got fat and sloppy AFTER marriage, and their voices became shrill from yelling at their kids. Twenty-four is still a far cry from the Old Folks Home. The trick isn't to GET married, honey, but to make a decent selection that sticks. It's worth waiting for. Relax.

Computer fouls up Bond invitations

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — A computer foulup has tangled up the traditional 20,000 invitations being sent out for the inauguration of Christopher S. Bond as governor.

Some people are getting two or three, while some who were supposed to get them are getting none.

And the computer hypochondria has made Miss Linda Brown very unhappy.

She is on the transition government staff in charge of inaugural preparations and says most people laugh about the situation and understand it was caused by computer error, but others are a little miffed.

For example, Mrs. Bond's 2½-year-old niece, Robin Sturgeon of Owensboro, Ky., got a courtesy invitation. But Mrs. Bond's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Reid of Owensboro, failed to get one.

Bond's mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Bond of Mexico, got an invitation but his father, Arthur Bond, did not.

The governor-elect told his father maybe his mother would invite her husband to go along.

Similarly, John Mahaffey of Springfield, a campaign worker, failed to receive an invitation, but his wife, Fredna, and her daughter did.

"Maybe if you're nice, your wife will invite you to go along," Bond told Mahaffey last week in Springfield.

Miss Brown said the computer was supposed to spit out any duplications, but it did not and as a result one couple got three invitations.

"Next time we'll use more human effort," she said.

The Christmas mail rush didn't help, either.

The 30 invitations that are boxed and mailed to each member of the legislature went out only this week. Invitations also were sent to campaign workers, elected officials and friends of the families.

One invitation went to "Mrs. Jones and guest."

"We knew they'd been married for 50 years, but the computer didn't," Miss Brown said.

Lt. Col. Charles Kiefner, who is Bond's military aide in charge of the inauguration and who will become adjutant general later, got an invitation— but the computer mispelled his name.

Miss Brown said instructions will go out next week to those invited to the reception in the executive mansion Monday afternoon after Bond is sworn in at noon. Guests will include county campaign coordinators, members of the Bond family, other elected officials, and certain military personnel.

Miss Brown said she has been getting a lot on inquiries about what to wear, where to park and so on.

The basketball girls of the high school are wearing their beautiful white sweaters that were presented to them on New Year's Day in celebration of the victory over Fornfelt, being brought from the proceeds of the Morehouse game. On the front of the sweater is a large old English" S," with the figure "23" on it. Nine of these sweaters were received. Seven of them were presented to players, one to Coach McCord and one of Prof. Ellise, who manages the team.

Six hundred views to be used with a stereoscope were received this week by the local schools. They will be used in the class rooms in connection with instruction in history and geography. This set of Keystone views will be used in the grade school only.

What's the law?

The case of the boastful golfer

By Jack Strauss, LL.B.

The one advantage a golfer may have over a fisherman is that he doesn't have to show anything to back up his tall stories. Consequently, boastful Herbie was totally unrestricted as he swapped golf stories with a guest in his back yard. Some of the credit for his miraculour feats, however, he graciously attributed to his new driver, which he promptly produced.

As it turned out, the head of Herbie's club proved more durable than the head of Herbie's guest. While demonstrating the club, Herbie inadvertenly clobbered his guest on the noggin and sent him wobbling around the back yard like he had tried to drink Canada dry. When he finally stopped wobbling, he sued Herbie for his injures.

"Herbie's whacking me on the head," he complained in court, "was pure carelessness. Therefore, he's gotta pay me."

"No I don't," was Herbie's anser. "Under the law, the only duty owed by a homeowner to a guest is not to willfully or wantonly injure him. Thus, while I may have been a wee bit careless, obviously, I didn't injure him willfully or wantonly. Thus, I don't have to pay him a nickel."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you make boastful Herbie pay for injuring his guest?

This is how the judge ruled: YES! The judge held that whatever duty may be owed by a property owner to a guest on his property, it had no bearing on the accident in this case since that duty relates basically to the condition and maintenance of the property. If a person carelessly injures another, concluded the judge, the injured party is entitled to collect regardless of any host- guest relationship.

(Based upon a 1963 Washington Supreme Court Decision)

PRAYER: Dear Lord Christ, during Your life on earth, You brought peace into the lives of many. Throughout all ages, Your spirit has continued to bless countless millions with Your peace, which must be experienced to be understood. ## DR. LAWRENCE E. LAMB

Two Ex-Smokers Want to Repent

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb—My husband and I have recently given up smoking. We each smoked about a pack a day for many years. Now we are desperately sorry for the damage we have done to our bodies. We have heard that the lungs start cleaning themselves as soon as a person stops smoking. Is this correct?

We are wondering if there is anything we can do to help our bodies recover from all the damage. You have mentioned breathing exercises for emphysema victims. Would this help us and if so what are the exercises. Would any special foods or vitamins help? Any suggestions would be appreciated.

Dear Reader — Yes, hindsight is always better than foresight, and it is too bad that people don't realize the full effects of their habits before they form them.

Both men and women who smoke two packs of cigarettes a day or more were found in a survey to lose 50 per cent more time from work, spend 50 per cent more time ill in bed, and had about twice as many days of restricted activity as nonsmokers. The death rate in men 55 to 64 years of age, who smoked 20 cigarettes or more a day was about three times that observed in nonsmokers of the same age group.

There is an unending list of problems associated with heavy cigarette smoking which includes face wrinkles and aging of the skin, sudden death from heart disease, increased incidence of ulcers, sinusitis, lung disease, and perhaps a host of other problems that haven't even been identified, without even getting to the serious problem of lung cancer particularly common in men.

It is true that as soon as you stop smoking a reversal of some of these problems occurs. The chronic poisoning effect from nicotine begins to diminish and some of the problems related to the increased incidence of peptic ulcers disappears. In fortunate individuals some of the problems related to the respiratory tract begin to disappear. In men after they have stopped smoking for at least 10 years, their death rate begins to approach the same level noted in individuals who have never smoked.

You can improve your general health at the time you quit smoking. Avoid getting fat and develop a sensible exercise program. Cigarette smoking has the opposite effect on the body from physical fitness.

I believe it is important for people to have good regular respiratory exercises. Much of the act of breathing is associated with the strength and capacity of the chest cage itself; that is, the ribs and the attached muscles. You have to be careful about doing some of these because some of them will cause you to feel faint. I usually recommend that people sit down in a comfortable chair, sit up straight with their hands on top of their head and interlock their fingers. Then take as deep a breath as possible, slowly, and then let it all out slowly. Rest a few seconds and then repeat the procedure. If you breath too deeply too rapidly you will cause faintness, so do it gradually, but four or five maximum breathing efforts a day helps to maintain the full range of capacity of the lungs. These are useful whether a person has smoked or not.

POLLY'S POINTERS

Don't Trust Memory, Predate Your Checks

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY—During the first part of any year most of us have trouble remembering to use the new calendar year date on our checks. After I write my last check in December I go through the balance of the checks in my book and put the date of the new year on each blank check. Continue on into another book of checks if you feel it necessary and have no more errors. Anyone fortunate enough to have a cake divider with about 12 tines should use it to prick the tops of those new gelatin cakes and find it is really a time saver.—C. C. W.

Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY—How does one tell, at a glance, the difference between a plain sewing machine needle and a ball point machine needle (for knits)? I find a magnifying glass is necessary to distinguish between them. There must be some simple, less frustrating way. What am I doing wrong and what can be done to make it easy to tell them apart?—VIOLET

DEAR POLLY—My Pet Peeve is with people who dial the wrong number and never respond when you answer. It would be most acceptable to say "I have the wrong number" or at least hang up at once.—MRS. J. E. C.

DEAR POLLY—We had the same problem as Mary L. with the aluminum ribbing around our kitchen table rubbing off on arms and clothes. We applied a good coat of an acrylic floor finish which worked fine.—L. M. L.

DEAR POLLY—Mary L. who wanted to know how to prevent the aluminum trim on her table from staining her arms could coat the aluminum with clear lacquer or clear nail polish and find either works fine.—BARB

DEAR POLLY—My Pointer is so easy I wonder why I did not think of it before. My tall clear plastic cake cover has now doubled its use as it is just the right size to keep my stack of 150-200 paper plates neat and dust free. —ANNA MAE

DEAR POLLY—When making carpenter-style painting aprons for my two little boys I have to remember that they need something easy to put on. Instead of putting ties at the neck back (which they cannot tie) I sew elastic on. This makes it quick and easy for them to slip the aprons on over their heads.—KAY

DR. LAWRENCE E. LAMB

Two Ex-Smokers Want to Repent

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb—My husband and I have recently given up smoking. We each smoked about a pack a day for many years. Now we are desperately sorry for the damage we have done to our bodies. We have heard that the lungs start cleaning themselves as soon as a person stops smoking. Is this correct?

We are wondering if there is anything we can do to help our bodies recover from all the damage. You have mentioned breathing exercises for emphysema victims. Would this help us and if so what are the exercises. Would any special foods or vitamins help? Any suggestions would be appreciated.

Dear Reader — Yes, hindsight is always better than foresight, and it is too bad that people don't realize the full effects of their habits before they form them.

Both men and women who smoke two packs of cigarettes a day or more were found in a survey to lose 50 per cent more time from work, spend 50 per cent more time ill in bed, and had about twice as many days of restricted activity as nonsmokers. # Poll members meet

BLOOMFIELD — Although the 16th annual Bloomfield Christmas tournament seemingly has weathered the traditional snow and ice storm that normally accompanies the 16- team affair, the event hasn't been without its surprises, and another pair was recorded Friday night.

Old man upset struck again Friday night after a Thursday appearance, leaving the Dexter Bearcats the latest victim, as the Kennett Indians moved into the title picture against the pre-tournament favored Advance Hornets.

Advance surprised the capacity crowd of more than 3,000 fans by crushing the Matthews Pirates 94-68. Kennett followed with an equally surprising 62-44 romp of the second- seeded DHS Bearcats.

Tournament action begins its final night today at 6:30 when Matthews collides with Dexter for third place consolation laurels. The title bout at 8 will feature the third and fourth ranked teams in the latest Daily Standard basketball poll.

Coach Carroll Cookson's AHS cagers put together their best game of the season, displaying the same sharp shooting, rebounding and defensive form that carried them to the Class S state title last season.

The Hornet- Pirate battle started off as a shooting match with the clubs matching each other basket for basket for six minutes of the opening eight- minute period, but Matthews cooled and Advance continued to rack up the points, shooting out to a 22-17 first- quarter lead and streaking to a 55-31 halftime advantage.

After the halftime break the Hornets chased two tournament records, the single game mark and the individual high, but fell short of both as they missed the 109 game high by 15 points and Kenny Emerson came up short by eight points of the individual high of 38 held by Fred Towns of Sikeston and Harold Persful of Richland. Malden and Richland hold the single- game team mark.

Emerson drilled in 22 points in the first half, mostly from the 20- foot and beyond range, and ended the night with 30 points. Darrell Croy added 24 and John Rhodes 21 to the Advance offensive punch.

Matthews was paced by Armand Porter's 21 points. Jimmy Hardin and Ricky Parker added 14 each to the Pirate total.

Advance ruled the backboards, displayed a precision fastbreak and shot a phenomenal 65 per cent from the field on the way to notching its 14th straight win this season and 25th in a row over two campaigns.

Dexter's offense continued to sputter as it did Thursday night, but this time the Bearcats were unable to make a comeback against the talented Kennett Indians like they did against Neelyville Thursday.

Kennett took a 16-12 lead in the first period and added to the margin in each quarter, reaching an 18-point lead early in the fourth period.

Coach Terry Turlington's Tribe coupled a fastbreak offense with some tenacious rebounding to knock off the second- seeded Bearcats and hand them their first defeat in seven games this season.

Greg Gilmer and Ben McCracken pumped in 18 points each to lead the KHS offense, which included 12 points by Robert Pulliam and 10 markers by Roy White. Bruce Bishop scored 18 points for Dexter and was the only Bearcat to reach double figures.

Dexter's generally tough defense was ripped apart by the outcourt gunning of the Tribe, and the Bearcats always tough inside scoring punch was stopped by the tall and talented Indians.

The only storm the Wildcat invitational may have to weather now will be that of tonight's two games which could be high- scoring affairs, especially the finale which matches two outstanding shooting teams.

"I'll not underestimate The Daily Standard high school basketball poll" ... That's my New Year's resolution ...

If I had paid more attention to the coaches' rankings in the latest DS poll, the old swami might have had some success in his predictions Friday, but since he didn't, he batted a big zero ...

But ... I'll try again.

BLOOMFIELD TOURNAMENT

Matthews vs. Dexter -- The Bearcats were the old swami's favorites to claim the 16th annual BHS tourney championship ... But Kennett took care of that ... Although they're having their troubles now, I believe they'll survive the Pirates' threat. Dexter 64, Matthews 60.

Advance vs. Kennett -- Coach Carroll Cookson's Advance Hornets didn't make a believer out of the old swami last season until late ... and they haven't convinced him yet this campaign ... Kennett will prevail ... 71-67.

Jolly old Bill Harrison didn't miss a game at Cape Girardeau in his brief venture into the guessing game .. We're going to have to give him some more chances ... to at least miss one ... Sweet Julia Johnson has had her misses though.

As I complete this column for this year ... I'd like to join with my sports staff of Bill Harrison, Julia Johnson, Fred Copeland, George Kappler and David' Crader to wish all our readers the very best in 1973 ...

FLAT RIVER PREDICTIONS

By Julia Johnson

My upset Friday night turned out to be for the wrong game, but I'll try again.

Fredericktown vs. Flat River -- The top- rated Blackcats will be trying to salvage some self respect after their defeat Friday night by fifth- seeded Leadwood, while Flat River will be trying to place in its own tourney --- It should be an interesting game and a close one --- I have to go with the Rebels once again despite the ratings --- 59-53.

Brentwood vs. Leadwood --- The Pups are on the move and seem to be a pretty determined ball club --- They have shown some fine ball-handling during the tournament and will be a tough team to challenge --- Brentwood, too, has a good team but I think Leadwood will be up for this one --- I'll pick the fifth- rated Pups for the champs in a close game --- 67-63.

Ten tasty weekend treats have been whipped up in bowls from Florida to California for gridiron gourmets.

Post-season college football fanatics whetted their appetites Friday night when North Carolina State frosted No. 18 West Virginia in the Peach Bowl and Tampa edged Kent State 21-18 in the Tangerine Bowl.

But the piece de resistance of the holiday feast is the Rose Bowl, one of three New Year's Day classics involving six of the top 12 teams in The Associated Press pre-bowl poll.

Sophomore Stan Fritts set a Peach Bowl record with his three touchdowns, one from one yard out and two from the four. Quarterback Dave Buckey passed for two TDs, one to his twin brother, Don, and went over from the two-yard line for another. The 37-yard bomb to his brother in the first quarter wiped out a 7-6 West Virginia lead. The Mountaineers' only other scores were two field goals, also in the first period.

Kent State, the Mid-American conference champion, mounted a furious fourth-quarter attack after trailing 21-0 at the half but lost the Bowl battle when Herb Page missed two extra point attempts and quarterback Greg Kokal failed on a twopoint run attempt.

Tampa quarterback Buddy Carter teamed with tight end Paul Orndorf for TD passes of 15 and 35 yards in the first quarter before Carter was relieved by Fred Solomon who capped an 89-yard drive with a two-yard run in the second quarter to end Tampa's scoring.

The national championship is at stake in Pasadena, Calif., when top-ranked Southern Cal puts its unbeaten record on the line against 9-1-0 Ohio State.

"This Southern Cal team is the best team Ohio State has ever played," said Coach Woody Hayes, aiming for victory No. 150 and his fourth Rose Bowl triumph in five appearances. "They can run and pass, they have a good defense. There is no weakness to their attack.

"They're explosive but no more hard-nosed than we are. We had to beat the No. 3 team to get here. They didn't have to beat anybody of similar ranking. They are No. 1 and rightfully so. We're No. 3, wanting to be No. 1.

Hayes' Buckeyes earned their ranking and the trip West by beating Big Ten co-champion Michigan, which slipped to No. 8. The Wolverines are the only team in the Top Ten who are absent from the post-season scene.

Defending champion Nebraska, No. 9 this year after losses to UCLA and Oklahoma, takes on 12th-ranked Notre Dame in another Jan. 1 contest—the Orange Bowl in Miami—while fourth-ranked Alabama squares off against No. 7 Texas in the Cotton Bowl at Dallas.

The only New Year's Eve action for those who prefer television to horns and hats is No. 2 Oklahoma vs. No. 5 Penn State in the Sugar Bowl in New Orleans.

Saturday games included the East-West college all-star Shrine game in San Francisco; No. 6 Auburn and No. 13 Colorado in the Gator Bowl in Jacksonville, Fla.; No. 10 Louisiana State and No. 11 Tennessee in the Astro-Bluebonnet Bowl in Houston and No. 16 North Carolina and unranked Texas Tech in the Sun Bowl in El Paso, Tex.

The Rose Bowl, scheduled for 5 p.m. EST on NBC-TV, will be sandwiched between the Cotton Bowl, with the kickoff set for 2 p.m. EST on CBS, and the Orange Bowl, starting at 8 p.m. EST on NBC, assuming play in Pasadena is completed.

Flu bugs pros

A busy little flu bug dashing madly about the Pittsburgh camp was the main source of concern for the Steelers today as they prepared for their New Year's Eve date against the Miami Dolphins to decide the National Football League's American Conference championship.

In Sunday's other NFL semifinal playoff, Washington faces Dallas for the National Conference title.

Several of the Steelers were a bit under the weather during the week, thanks to the busy bug. His sting was strong enough to send several Steelers, including quarterback Terry Bradshaw, to the hospital.

But Coach Chuck Noll expected all of his ailing athletes to be available for the showdown game against Miami. The Dolphins have won 15 consecutive games and another triumph Sunday will return them to the Super Bowl, where they lost to Dallas last year.

The Dolphins handled Cleveland in the opening playoff game while Pittsburgh advanced by beating Oakland in the final seconds on a disputed deflected pass touchdown.

Dallas, which got two TDs in the final 90 seconds to overtake San Francisco last week, is also looking for a return ticket to the Super Bowl. All that stands in the Cowboys' way is Washington's "Over the Hill Gang."

Dallas Coach Tom Landry has announced that Roger Staubach will start at quarterback for the Cowboys. Staubach came off the bench to engineer Dallas' late winning drive against the 49ers.

The Redskins, who beat Green Bay 16-3 in the opening round of the playoffs, will be shooting for their first championship game trip since 1945.

That seems like a long time, but then the Steelers have never made it to a title game. That's really a long time.

Poll members meet

BLOOMFIELD — Although the 16th annual Bloomfield Christmas tournament seemingly has weathered the traditional snow and ice storm that normally accompanies the 16- team affair, the event hasn't been without its surprises, and another pair was recorded Friday night.

Old man upset struck again Friday night after a Thursday appearance, leaving the Dexter Bearcats the latest victim, as the Kennett Indians moved into the title picture against the pre-tournament favored Advance Hornets.

Advance surprised the capacity crowd of more than 3,000 fans by crushing the Matthews Pirates 94-68. Kennett followed with an equally surprising 62-44 romp of the second- seeded DHS Bearcats.

Tournament action begins its final night today at 6:30 when Matthews collides with Dexter for third place consolation laurels. The title bout at 8 will feature the third and fourth ranked teams in the latest Daily Standard basketball poll.

Coach Carroll Cookson's AHS cagers put together their best game of the season, displaying the same sharp shooting, rebounding and defensive form that carried them to the Class S state title last season.

The Hornet- Pirate battle started off as a shooting match with the clubs matching each other basket for basket for six minutes of the opening eight- minute period, but Matthews cooled and Advance continued to rack up the points, shooting out to a 22-17 first- quarter lead and streaking to a 55-31 halftime advantage.

After the halftime break the Hornets chased two tournament records, the single game mark and the individual high, but fell short of both as they missed the 109 game high by 15 points and Kenny Emerson came up short by eight points of the individual high of 38 held by Fred Towns of Sikeston and Harold Persful of Richland. Malden and Richland hold the single- game team mark.

Emerson drilled in 22 points in the first half, mostly from the 20- foot and beyond range, and ended the night with 30 points. Darrell Croy added 24 and John Rhodes 21 to the Advance offensive punch.

Matthews was paced by Armand Porter's 21 points. Jimmy Hardin and Ricky Parker added 14 each to the Pirate total.

Advance ruled the backboards, displayed a precision fastbreak and shot a phenomenal 65 per cent from the field on the way to notching its 14th straight win this season and 25th in a row over two campaigns.

Dexter's offense continued to sputter as it did Thursday night, but this time the Bearcats were unable to make a comeback against the talented Kennett Indians like they did against Neelyville Thursday.

Kennett took a 16-12 lead in the first period and added to the margin in each quarter, reaching an 18-point lead early in the fourth period.

Coach Terry Turlington's Tribe coupled a fastbreak offense with some tenacious rebounding to knock off the second- seeded Bearcats and hand them their first defeat in seven games this season.

Greg Gilmer and Ben McCracken pumped in 18 points each to lead the KHS offense, which included 12 points by Robert Pulliam and 10 markers by Roy White. Bruce Bishop scored 18 points for Dexter and was the only Bearcat to reach double figures.

Dexter's generally tough defense was ripped apart by the outcourt gunning of the Tribe, and the Bearcats always tough inside scoring punch was stopped by the tall and talented Indians.

The only storm the Wildcat invitational may have to weather now will be that of tonight's two games which could be high- scoring affairs, especially the finale which matches two outstanding shooting teams.

Missouri-K-State collide in Big 8 finals

KANSAS CITY (AP) — It's last year all all over again tonight with the seventh-ranked Missouri Tigers running into the 16th-ranked Kansas State Wildcats for the Big Eight Conference preseason basketbal tournament chairmanship.

A year ago, Missouri prevailed over the Wildcats 67-58 in the finals. Kansas State, however, won the Big Eight crown.

The Tigers, unbeaten in 10 starts, reached tonight's rematch with the Wildcats, 9-1, by nipping 19th-rated and previously undefeated Oklahoma 69-68 Friday night. Kansas State, with almost as much difficulty, knocked off Iowa State 68-65.

Wildcat Coach Jack Hartman, displeased with his team's performance against the Cyclones, said:

"If we play like that against Missouri, they will put us in the basket as well as the ball."

Hartman and Missouri Coach Norm Stewart both complained about sluggishnsss on the part of their respective clubs.

"We were as flat as we could be but Iowa State played well," Hartman said. "You've got to give them some credit for our performance."

Stewart praised Oklahoma. "We evidently had a sluggish performance," he said, "but you have to give Oklahoma credit ...We weren't getting the ball to John Brown. They were doing a good job of sagging on him ..."

Bob Chipman dropped two free throws with four seconds left to assure Kansas State of victory over the Cyclones, 7-2. Iowa State had pulled to within one point at 66-65 with 12 seconds remaining on Wes Harris' 13-footer.

Bill Benson fouled Chipman, and the reserve guard sank both shots. The Wildcats had watched a 10-point lead wither to one. Steve Mitchell made 21 points for Kansas State and Wes Harris 20 for the Cyclones.

"It was a tough game to lose," said Cyclone Coach Maury John.

Late free throws also played a major role in Missouri's decision over the Sooners, 7-1. After Oklahoma's sensational freshman, Alvan Adams, had come up with a three-point play to narrow Missouri's lead to 66-64, Al Eberhard hit two charity tosses.

Tom Holland's field goal with 1:58 left cut the Missouri margin to two points again. Once more Eberhard came to the rescue, sinking a foul shot.

Mike Jeffries' spectacular shooting for Missouri was the big factor. He wound up with 28 points, a career high. Adams had 27 for the Sooners.

Sooner Coach John MacLeod admitted "Missouri is a good club. They got down by 10 points and didn't lose their poise. Jeffries is a highly improved player but Missouri is good all over the place. We need poise."

Oklahoma and Iowa State faced each other in the second game of today's afternoon doubleheader. Colorado met Kansas in the first tilt.

Prior to tonight's championship game, Oklahoma State battles Nebraska.

Oklahoma state downed Colorado 66-61 in Friday's consolation round, and Nebraska, behind by 10 points in each half, edged Kansas 74-72, handing the Jayhawks their 17th consecutive defeat on the road.

Oklahoma State, 3-7, waged an uphill scrap all the way before whipping Colorado, 3-5. Behind 35-31 at halftime, the Cowboys bounced back on the shooting of Andy Hopson and Kevin Fitzgerald. Hopson made 16 points, all but two in the second half. Fitzgerald also contributed 16. The Buffaloes' Lee Haven canned 18.

Jerrell Fort's last minute free throws lifted Nebraska, 45, to victory over Kansas, 4-6. He hit two with nine seconds left after being fouled by Mike Fiddelke.

Kansas once led by 23-13 but the Cornhuskers dropped 13 straight points to go ahead 26-23. Behind in the second half 54-44, Nebraska again closed the gap, Brendy Lee's layup squaring things with 10:19 to go. Rick Suttle made 24 points for Kansas but Fort led the scoring with 27.

KHS rally falls short

By BILL HARRISON

CAPE GIRARDEAU -- The Cape Central Tigers won the College High Christmas Tournament for the second year in succession Friday night by edging the Kelly Hawks 58-56, and the Noter Dame Bulldogs whipped the Oak Ridge Jays 69-55 for third place.

For the first two quarters and three minutes of the third, the Central Tigers looked every bit the great team everyone seemed to think they ought to be with their tremendous height. However, floor mistakes, which have hampered the Tigers throughout the tournament, and a fighting, never- say- die Kelly team, turned the tide and made the Bengals look like a confused team, causing a 20- point Tiger lead with five minutes remaining in the third period to fade slowly away to two points at the final buzzer.

"We made a lot of mental mistakes," said Coach Dan Milligan after the game. "We made some bad shots." Coach Milligan said Kelly does a good job of hustling and thinks most team would have folded when 20 points down.

"Suggs played exceptionally well for us, making some clutch baskets," coach Milligan said.

"Our boys were down 10 points mentally due to the height advantage," commented Coach Nick Lampher. "Thompson did a fine job on Dick Buxton in the game," he stated.

In the first period the Hawks did the job that had to be done in permitting the Tigers only one shot at the basket and had a hothand from the field but trailed 16-14 as the buzzer sounded to end the quarter.

Central used its height advantage in the second period, getting easy buckets underneath and taking off all missed Kelly shots, scoring 16 while holding a now cold Hawk team to eight points to lead 32-22 at the half.

Coach Milligan gave his team some good advice at the intermission, and the Tigers came out and ran up 10 straight points to lead 42-22 early in the quarter.

With five minutes left, Kelly began to make its move and slowly closed the gap with a tight, pressing defense.

For the second night in a row, 6-6 Hunter Stiegemeyer ran into foul trouble and had to sit out most of the remaining minutes of the game.

Kelly kept chipping away at the deficit and cut the lead to eight at the end of the third quarter, 47-39.

The Hawks hit a shot at the buzzer to pull within two to end a fantastic comeback effort.

Jeff Jackson of Kelly worked hard all night on the boards and ended the game with 27 points to lead all scorers. Stiegemeyer hit 18 for the Tigers and Suggs added 16.

In the first game of the evening, the Notre Dame Bulldogs wanted the third place trophy and came out shooting to run up an 18-12 first period lead which they never relinquished. Oak Ridge was never in the game as the defense of the Bulldogs was impenetrable throughout the contest.

The Bulldogs scored 20 points in the second period to 13 for the Jays and held a comfortable 38-25 halftime lead. Both teams cooled inthe third period with Notre Dame hitting only 10 points to nine for the Oak Ridge five.

The Bulldogs began to substitute freely in the last period and Oak Ridge started to penetrate the defense, scoring 21 points, but the Bulldog subs hit 21 of their own.

Ron Maurer and Dave Nenninger had 16 and 15 points respectively for the winning Bulldogs. Randy Hobeck hit 14 for the Jays.

An all- tournament team was named with 6-6 Dick Buxton of Cape Central, Dave Nenninger of Notre Dame, Jeff Jackson of Kelly, Alvin Pierce of Charleston and Fred Rowe of Scott County Central making up the starting five.

Missouri-K-State collide in Big 8 finals

KANSAS CITY (AP) — It's last year all all over again tonight with the seventh-ranked Missouri Tigers running into the 16th-ranked Kansas State Wildcats for the Big Eight Conference preseason basketbal tournament chairmanship.

A year ago, Missouri prevailed over the Wildcats 67-58 in the finals. Kansas State, however, won the Big Eight crown.

The Tigers, unbeaten in 10 starts, reached tonight's rematch with the Wildcats, 9-1, by nipping 19th-rated and previously undefeated Oklahoma 69-68 Friday night. Kansas State, with almost as much difficulty, knocked off Iowa State 68-65.

Wildcat Coach Jack Hartman, displeased with his team's performance against the Cyclones, said:

"If we play like that against Missouri, they will put us in the basket as well as the ball."

Hartman and Missouri Coach Norm Stewart both complained about sluggishnsss on the part of their respective clubs.

Stewart praised Oklahoma. "We evidently had a sluggish performance," he said, "but you have to give Oklahoma credit ...We weren't getting the ball to John Brown. They were doing a good job of sagging on him ..."

Leadwood took a three-point edge in the first quarter and maintained it throughout the second quarter. At half the score stood at 27-22 in favor of the Pups.

Both teams showed fine ball handling but Fredericktown ran into foul trouble which gave the Pups the needed edge. The Pups connected for 26 from the free throw line.

Third quarter action showed that neither team was going to accept defeat without a fight, but Leadwood kept its lead by six. Fredericktown could not pull itself together in the fourth frame to overtake the Pups.

John Nations led scoring for the Blackcats with 16 points. Cruse added 10.

The Brentwood Eagles moved out in the second quarter from the Rebels and held onto the lead for the entire game without serious trouble. The game looked like a tight one from the first quarter scoring, both teams hitting for 14, but the Eagles broke loose during the second frame for 22 markers and a 36-29 lead at halftime.

The Eagles continued to build up their lead during the third quarter and the Eagles went on to move into the finals Saturday night.

Four Brentwood players made it into double figures. Stubbs led with 19 markers and Conell followed with 18. Hoffman and Kornfeld backed them up with 13 and 11 respectively.

Gregg Rhodes and Curt Boyer shared scoring honors with 15 points each for the Rebels.

Flat River and Fredericktown will battle it out for third place tonight at 7 and Brentwood will take on Leadwood at 8:30 for the championship.

Wet season leaves crops in fields

JULY

1-- BENTON— The Sikeston City Council must accept a bid by the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America for the old City Administrative Building on South Kingshighway, Circuit Court Judge Marshall Craig has ruled.

3 & 4-- High winds and heavy rains swept through the Sikeston area Saturday evening doing widespread though mostly minor property damage.

PORTAGEVILLE-- Five persons died in a fiery four- car accident at a police roadblock at 5 p.m. Sunday on Interstate 55 just north of the Highway 162 interchange at Portageville. They were the only fatalities on Bootheel roads since the July 4 weekend began.

5-- Two members of Sikeston Pilots Association told the City Council Monday night that the airport is in need of improvements.

6-- EAST PRAIRIE— City officials announced today that Economic Development Administration has given final approval on plans for a new water system treatment plant.

7-- Meredith Lee has resigned as senior vice president of the Bank of Sikeston to become president and chief executive officer of State Bank of Morehouse.

8--JEFFERSON CITY— Former Missouri Gov. John M. Dalton, 71, died Friday in a Jefferson City hospital of cancer of the spine after an illness of several months.

10-- The lifetime ambition of former Sikeston High School athlete George Woods moved a step closer over the weekend when the 300- pound athlete qualified for his second Olympic appearance by throwing the 16- pound shotput 70 feet, one and three-fourths inches.

11-- NEW MADRID— A single- engine Pawnee aircraft ignited in mid- air last night and crashed and burned on the E.B. Gee farm at the Henderson Mounds community north of here. The pilot, James B. Dolan of Lilbourn, received burns and extensive bruises.

12-- Approximately 6,487 Social Security beneficiaries in Scott County will get a 20 per cent boost in their checks this fall as a result of the increase passed last month by Congress, it was announced today.

13-- The former Sikeston Light and Water Co. office on the northwest corner of Center and North New Madrid Streets was sold Wednesday night to R.D. Clayton for $25,000.

14--EAST PRAIRIE— The Housing Authority of East Prairie is accepting applications for residence in recently completed low- rent housing in the north section of town.

15— Sikeston is among six teams seeking the district crown in Junior Babe Ruth league.

17-- MALDEN— Approximately 250 persons were on hand Sunday as Congressman Bill Burlison of Cape Girardeau gave the dedication address during groundbreaking ceremonies for a recreation area located in Malden Industrial Park.

18— Bill Hampton Jr. has been named staff photographer of The Daily Standard, according to C.L. Blanton III, business manager.

Nearly 500 people gathered at Ramada Inn in Miner Monday night at a $25 a plate appreciation dinner honoring Rep. Bill Burlison, 10th District Democrat from Cape Girardeau.

19-- The number of thefts in the city soared for the first six months of the year, while the number of other crimes dropped or held steady.

20-- NEW MADRID— Lora Hunter, 18, of New Madrid, was Missouri's youngest delegate last week to the national Democratic convention in Miami Beach.

21-- Thursday was one of the hottest and most humid days Sikeston has had this summer.

BENTON-- Southeast Missouri Peace Officers gathered at the American Legion Hall in Benton Thursday afternoon for a crime detection and prevention seminar hosted by Scott County Sheriff John Dennis.

22-- When Roy Willis, 59, of West Frankfort, Ill., rode his bicycle into Sikeston Thursday night he was on the second day of a three- week trip from West Frankfort to San Antonio, Tex., and he didn't know if he could go any further.

24-- Idle men and machines characterized the scene at the Interstate 55 highway project this morning as talks between management officials of R.B. Potashnick Construction Company and union officials of the Operator's Union held talks to determine the job status of several union men who staged a wildcat strike during the weekend.

25-- Early November has been set as tentative opening date of Sikeston Burger King. The new eating facility will be located at East Malone and Elm Street, the former location of Nailing Truck and Tractor Company, it was announced today.

26--MARSTON— The firing of three electricians Monday night has reportedly resulted in a walkout of some employes at Noranda Aluminum Company, Inc.

27--HOWARDVILLE— The first spade of earth was tossed skyward Wednesday by Howardville Mayor Willie B. Hamilton at groundbreaking ceremonies for the first community- owned cooperative supermarket in the state.

MR. AND MRS. ALBERT PETERS, JR. of Bertrand, shown with their children, Christopher Scott and Valerie Ann, are recent recipients of the State Farm Management Award from the Extension Division of the University of Missouri in Columbia.

Peters family receives management award

By SHIRLEY PRITCHETT

BERTRAND — In spite of an extremely wet fall season which has created severe hardships for many area farmers the Albert Peters Jr. family, who live southeast of Bertrand, feel 1972 has been an outstanding year.

On Dec. 6 the family received a state farm management award from the Extension Division of the University of Missouri-Columbia in recognition of their management ability and progress made in reaching their farm goals.

The awards were presented at the Crest House Restaurant in St. Louis to 32 Eastern Missouri farm families in a program sponsored by the Production Credit Association of Eastern Missouri and the St. Louis National Stockyards Co. in cooperation with the university.

Peters and his wife, the former Loretta Hodges of Sikeston, began their farming operation in 1963 when as Peters describes it, a rare opportunity came along. They rented a 300 acre farm from Mrs. W. M. Gaty of Bertrand and purchased her farm equipment.

At that time the farm was producing 50 bushels of corn, 25 bushels of wheat, three- fourths bale of cotton and approximately 20 bushels of soybeans per acre. The same farm now yields 100 bushels of corn, 45 bushels of wheat, a bale and one half of cotton and 30 bushels of soybeans per acre.

Peters, who was reared in the Bertrand area, was not a newcomer to farming when he married. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Peters Sr., are farmers, and according to Peters, he was reared with an "idiot stick" (hoe) in his hands.

In addition to the first 300- acre farm he has added 630 acres, 150 of which are in Scott County. Assisting with farming operations are two brothers, Steven and David Peters.

Although there are still some cotton and beans in the fields, Peters said it has been a good year with corn yielding 166 bushels per acre on the original farm and an average of 120 bushels per acre on the other farms. Beans have averaged 42 bushels per acre this fall.

Farm equipment used in the present operation include five tractors, and a new combine.

Some 170 head of feeder cattle, purchased this fall, are now being used to clean up crop residue and winter cover crops of rye and wheat. These will be sold about mid-March when crop season arrives.

In order for farm families to receive the state farm management award they must first be nominated by county award committees. Final selection is made during on- the- farm visits by state committees made up of farm organization leaders, agri- businessmen, mass media representatives and state extension specialists.

The Peters family was visited by Dr. Herman Workman from the University of Missouri, John Yount, area farm management specialist and Ken Williams of Production Credit Association in Sikeston.

Winners are selected from among those taking part in educational programs sponsored by University Extension Centers.

Mr. and Mrs. Peters have been using the university's main- in- record system for several years to point out strong and weak points in their operation and they are cooperators in the new cotton cost cutting program in cooperation with the main- in- record system. Production Credit Association has been used as a source of borrowed capital.

The Peters are the parents of two children, Valerie Ann, a nine year old third grade student in the Warren E. Hearnes Elementary School in Charleston, and Christopher Scott, four and one- half years old. The family attends the First Baptist Church of Bertrand, where Mrs. Peters is a substitute Sunday School teacher and served as director of Vacation Bible School. She is active in Girl Scouting and belongs to the Bridges Young Homemakers Extension Club. In 1963 and 1964 Mrs. Peters was Woman's Page Editor of the Daily Sikeston Standard and is presently employed with Production Credit Association in Charleston during the heavy loan season.

Peters is a member of the board of the Farmer's Home Administration and serves on the advisory committee of the Production Credit Association.

Future goals of the Peters include the purchase of a new farm, construction of a new home, and college educations for both children.

Area meat packers fail inspections

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. Department of Agriculture records list 31 Missouri meat packing and slaughterhouse facilities as having failed to meet federal standards during inspections in the first six months of 1972.

The records indicated that most of the plants found in violation quickly corrected the deficiencies and passed subsequent inspections.

Most of the violations occurred in operational sanitation and in the inspection of animals before and after slaughter, according to department records.

Improper labeling of condemned, inedible and restricted meat also accounted for many of the violations.

Federal and state inspectors are required by law to check meat packing plants for cleanliness, condition of floors and walls, condensation of moisture, maintenance of equipment and procedures used in slaughtering cattle.

In the past, the results of the checks were kept secret. But the department recently was ordered by a federal court to release the results of the inspections.

The hundreds of individual checks are grouped into seven major categories—water potability; operational sanitation; ante-and post-mortem inspection, reinspection; separation and marking of exempt products; sewage and waste material disposal systems; vermin, insect and rat control; condemned, inedible and restricted material control; and welfare facilities for workers.

Most deficiencies found were easily correctible, the records show. Flaking paint, deteriorating wooden doors, cracks in the floor, meat already rejected by the company but not treated with charcoal or some other substance to make it inedible, and inadeadequate lighting were items frequently mentioned by inspectors.

The department records show inspectors considered the following companies were taking inadequate precautions in one of the seven major categories at the time of an inspection:

REA to end January 1

WASHINGTON (AP) — The historic federal program which brought electricity to rural America with low interest loans from tax funds will be ended Jan. 1 and converted to a private financial venture.

The Nixon administration, determined to hold the line on federal spending, ordered the shakeup Friday. Officials think it will save the government up to $179 million this fiscal year.

But representatives of rural electric cooperatives are bristling over the switch and have vowed to fight the move by enlisting help from Congress.

Under the order, announced by the Agriculture Department, the Rural Electrification Administration will continue handling the loans but at more than double the low 2 per cent interest rate now in effect.

More significant, however, is the end of REA's practice of nearly 40 years of making direct loans from federal funds. In the future, all will be financed by sales of government securities to private investors.

The money generated then will be loaned on an insured basis by REA to its regular customers, principally some 1,000 electric cooperatives. The same procedure will apply to a telephone loan program begun in 1949 and also handled by REA.

Robert D. Partridge, general manager of the National Rural Electric Cooperative Association, said he was "shocked and disappointed by the decision."

"Moreover, we have no alternative than to fight such a drastic decision with all the resources at our command," he told reporters.

Partridge said he will urge President Nixon to cancel the order and will press for support in Congress. If allowed to stand, he said, the higher costs "will wipe out many" of the electric cooperatives.

The new loan rates will be 5 per cent a year instead of the current 2 per cent cost set by Congress in 1944.

Although the principal of the loans will be coming from private sources, the government will have to make up the difference between what it must pay investors for money and the lower interest charged borrowers.

The switch, however, could mean a net savings of up to $179 million in REA spending for the year ending next June 30, officials said.

Congress appropriated $565 million for REA electric loans this fiscal year and $145 million for telephone loans.

But at White House orders, actual loans have been held down to a fiscal year rate of $438 million for electric projects and $125 million for telephones.

Farm roundup

WASHINGTON (AP) — The announcement this week that the administration has ended further REAP contracts as of Dec. 22 is causing vibrations throughout Agriculture Department agencies which work with the popular conservation program.

Sources in the Soil Conservation districts, say some substantial cutbacks in field operations can be expected.

County operations of the Agricultural Stablization and Conservation Service, the agency which administers REAP, also will be cut in some areas where other farm programs are not large.

Department budget officials say, however, it is too early to estimate how many jobs will be affected by the cutback. REAP — the Rural Envirionmental Assistance Program—was to have produced about $140 million in federal payments to farmers next year for carrying out approved conservation practices.

Congress had authorized $225.5 million for REAP IN 1973, but the administration announced last fall it would be held to $140 million. The Dec. 22 cutoff ended the program entirely and specified no further applications for assistance would be approved after that date.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nearly one-fifth of the nation's soybeans and almost one-sixth of the corn crop was still in weather-damaged fields by Christmas, according to the Agriculture Department.

Officials said Wednesday in a weekly weather report that the soybean harvest was only 81 per cent completed by Monday, only a gain of two points from a week earlier.

The corn harvest was reported 86 per cent completed, a three-point increase, the department said.

Normally harvest is over by now, but severe weather including snow, rain and cold has hampered field operations from the beginning of last fall in many areas.

The department has not made any official estimate of crop losses and none is expected until Jan. 15 when a revised report of 1972 production will be issued.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department will issue Friday 3 p.m. EST a monthly report on prices farmers receive for their products and pay out to meet expenses.

Grain and livestock prices will be among the most important items to be tabulated. The report will show how prices shaped up as of Dec. 15, compared with mid-November and year-earlier averages.

Extension council election is set

An election to fill five positions on the New Madrid County University of Missouri Extension Council will be held the week of January 8. Dale Geske, chairman said three positions are open for District I which consists of Como, New Madrid, West, Big Prairie, Hough, and St. John townships. Two positions are open for District II which includes Lewis, LaFont, Lesieur, Portage and Anderson townships.

The University of Missouri Extension Council of New Madrid County is responsible for the guidance and administration of all Extension programs conducted within the county. It is composed of five elected members from each of the two Districts in the County. Boundaries of those Districts are the same as those which compose County Court districts. In addition, there are five appointed positions which are named by the County Court, City of New Madrid, the New Madrid County Farm Bureau, National Farmers Organization, and Missouri Farmers Association.

Eligible voters will receive ballots by mail for their selection. In addition, should someone be left off the list receiving ballots, additional ballots may be obtained from present council members. These include: Mrs. J. R. Boyer, Dale Geske, Clyde E. Hawes, C. G. Scott, Jr., Mrs. Nelson Lumsden, Earl Dell, Roland Byrd, Arline Avery, Willie Fortner, Mrs. John Klipfel, Mrs. Pansy Stafford, John H. Calvin, J. W. Widner, Jr. and Rance Perkins.

Disaster loan fund halt spurs criticism from farmers group

COLUMBIA— The halt in disaster loans to unfortunate farmers and the ending of the popular Rural Environmental Assistance Program for conservation and pollution control has prompted a critical statement by the 32 member state board of directors of Midcontinent Farmers Association.

The MFA board unanimously recommended that their organization work to get funds that have already been appropriated by Congress released for REAP and FHA emergency loans. These programs provide assistance for worthwhile conservation measures and credit where hardship has been brought on by disaster conditions.

Diarymen in some parts of Missouri are in bad shape due to prolonged power outages caused by the worst ice storm of record. Without electricity to run milking equipment, production was cut sharply and damage to the herds is extensive. Most of these farmers had spent a lifetime developing these herds. In other areas soybeans are rotting on the stalk and corn remains in the field due to disastrous weather conditions.

These farmers must borrow additional money to pay their bills, to buy seed and supplies needed to get back into operation. Where this credit can't be supplied by regular lenders, FHA emergency loans can make the difference between going out of business or continuing to operate," MFA president Fred V. Heinkel said.

Under the conservation assistance program, which dates from the mid- 1930's, the government and farmers have shared in the cost of approved conservation measures.

MR. AND MRS. ALBERT PETERS, JR. of Bertrand, shown with their children, Christopher Scott and Valerie Ann, are recent recipients of the State Farm Management Award from the Extension Division of the University of Missouri in Columbia.

Peters family receives management award

By SHIRLEY PRITCHETT

BERTRAND — In spite of an extremely wet fall season which has created severe hardships for many area farmers the Albert Peters Jr. family, who live southeast of Bertrand, feel 1972 has been an outstanding year.

On Dec. 6 the family received a state farm management award from the Extension Division of the University of Missouri-Columbia in recognition of their management ability and progress made in reaching their farm goals.

The awards were presented at the Crest House Restaurant in St. Louis to 32 Eastern Missouri farm families in a program sponsored by the Production Credit Association of Eastern Missouri and the St. Louis National Stockyards Co. in cooperation with the university.

Peters and his wife, the former Loretta Hodges of Sikeston, began their farming operation in 1963 when as Peters describes it, a rare opportunity came along. They rented a 300 acre farm from Mrs. W. M. Gaty of Bertrand and purchased her farm equipment.

At that time the farm was producing 50 bushels of corn, 25 bushels of wheat, three- fourths bale of cotton and approximately 20 bushels of soybeans per acre. The same farm now yields 100 bushels of corn, 45 bushels of wheat, a bale and one half of cotton and 30 bushels of soybeans per acre.

Peters, who was reared in the Bertrand area, was not a newcomer to farming when he married. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Peters Sr., are farmers, and according to Peters, he was reared with an "idiot stick" (hoe) in his hands.

In addition to the first 300- acre farm he has added 630 acres, 150 of which are in Scott County. Assisting with farming operations are two brothers, Steven and David Peters.

Although there are still some cotton and beans in the fields, Peters said it has been a good year with corn yielding 166 bushels per acre on the original farm and an average of 120 bushels per acre on the other farms. Beans have averaged 42 bushels per acre this fall.

Farm equipment used in the present operation include five tractors, and a new combine.

Some 170 head of feeder cattle, purchased this fall, are now being used to clean up crop residue and winter cover crops of rye and wheat. These will be sold about mid-March when crop season arrives.

In order for farm families to receive the state farm management award they must first be nominated by county award committees. Final selection is made during on- the- farm visits by state committees made up of farm organization leaders, agri- businessmen, mass media representatives and state extension specialists.

The Peters family was visited by Dr. Herman Workman from the University of Missouri, John Yount, area farm management specialist and Ken Williams of Production Credit Association in Sikeston.

Winners are selected from among those taking part in educational programs sponsored by University Extension Centers.

Mr. and Mrs. Peters have been using the university's main- in- record system for several years to point out strong and weak points in their operation and they are cooperators in the new cotton cost cutting program in cooperation with the main- in- record system. Production Credit Association has been used as a source of borrowed capital.

The Peters are the parents of two children, Valerie Ann, a nine year old third grade student in the Warren E. Hearnes Elementary School in Charleston, and Christopher Scott, four and one- half years old. The family attends the First Baptist Church of Bertrand, where Mrs. Peters is a substitute Sunday School teacher and served as director of Vacation Bible School. She is active in Girl Scouting and belongs to the Bridges Young Homemakers Extension Club. In 1963 and 1964 Mrs. Peters was Woman's Page Editor of the Daily Sikeston Standard and is presently employed with Production Credit Association in Charleston during the heavy loan season.

Peters is a member of the board of the Farmer's Home Administration and serves on the advisory committee of the Production Credit Association.

Future goals of the Peters include the purchase of a new farm, construction of a new home, and college educations for both children.

Area meat packers fail inspections

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. Department of Agriculture records list 31 Missouri meat packing and slaughterhouse facilities as having failed to meet federal standards during inspections in the first six months of 1972.

The records indicated that most of the plants found in violation quickly corrected the deficiencies and passed subsequent inspections.

Most of the violations occurred in operational sanitation and in the inspection of animals before and after slaughter, according to department records.

Improper labeling of condemned, inedible and restricted meat also accounted for many of the violations.

Federal and state inspectors are required by law to check meat packing plants for cleanliness, condition of floors and walls, condensation of moisture, maintenance of equipment and procedures used in slaughtering cattle.

In the past, the results of the checks were kept secret. But the department recently was ordered by a federal court to release the results of the inspections.

The hundreds of individual checks are grouped into seven major categories—water potability; operational sanitation; ante-and post-mortem inspection, reinspection; separation and marking of exempt products; sewage and waste material disposal systems; vermin, insect and rat control; condemned, inedible and restricted material control; and welfare facilities for workers.

Most deficiencies found were easily correctible, the records show. Flaking paint, deteriorating wooden doors, cracks in the floor, meat already rejected by the company but not treated with charcoal or some other substance to make it inedible, and inadeadequate lighting were items frequently mentioned by inspectors.

The department records show inspectors considered the following companies were taking inadequate precautions in one of the seven major categories at the time of an inspection:

—King Packing Co., West Plains, Mo., cited for operational sanitation and welfare facilities during a Jan. 20 inspection.

—Lebanon Packing Co., Lebanon, Mo., cited for operational sanitation during a Feb. 8 inspection.

Jean Stapleton Shows Another Side of Her Comedy Talent

When She Guests on "The Sonny & Cher Comedy Hour" Jan. 3

Archie Bunker's favorite "dingbat," Jean Stapleton, displays her musical- comedy versatility when she guest stars on "The Sonny & Cher Comedy Hour" Wednesday, Jan. 3 (7:00— 8:00PM,) on the CBS Television Network. Lyle Waggoner, a regular on "The Carol Burnett Show" on the Network, is featured as Lyle Perfect, master of ceremonies for the second annual Bono Awards.

At Sonny's Pizza, Sonny finds himself with more than just a New Year's hangover, he also has a new fiancee. It seems he proposed to a customer (Miss Stapleton) during his New Year's Eve party, and the lady has returned to claim her future husband.

"The Sonny & Cher Comedy Hour" also presents this season's first guest lecturer, Miss Hannah Willmott, speaking about acupuncture. The seriousness of the subject seems to get lost when Miss Willmott turns out to be Miss Stapleton.

Bette Davis and Ken Mars

Signed to Co-Star in

Half-Hour Comedy Series Being Developed For NBC-TV'S 1973-74 Season

Two- time Academy Award winner Bette Davis and actor- comedian Ken Mars have been signed to star in "Hello Mother, Goodbye," a half- hour comedy series being developed for the NBC Television Network's 1973-74 prime- time schedule, it was announced today by Lawrence R. White, Vice President, Programs, NBC—TV.

Miss Davis, a distinguished motion picture star for over four decades, has been nominated by the Academy as Best Actress eight times and received coveted Oscars for her roles in "Dangerous" (1935) and "Jezebel" (1938).

Mars will be remembered for his role of the fireman in the TV series "He and She," and as the Nazi pigeon-keeper in the motion picture, "The Producers."

In "Hello Mother, Goodbye," Miss Davis will portray widow Teresa Mullen, a matriarch who is a manipulator, an eccentric and a dauntless woman who operates behind the shield of the sacred- cow status of motherhood.

Mars will play one of her three children (the middle one), Ken, a free spirit and a successful man, who heads a small novelty company. He maintains his business enterprise in the basement of his mother's house, but is seldom hoodwinked by Teresa's quixotic attacks to have hew own way.

Other characters who become involved in the action are Ken's younger brother, sportscaster Robert (Bobby) Mullen, whom Teresa idolizes; Carolyn Kibbee, Ken's married sister; and Judy Mullen, Ken's ex- wife.

The pilot episode of "Hello Mother, Goodbye," slated to start production Jan. 3 at MGM, was written by Jack Sher and Bud Freeman. The series concept was created by Sher, who will also produce.

PRAY AT NOON, join

the hundreds of Christians here in our own community as well as the thousands, millions all across North America in moving a mountain known as Key '73.

Key '73 is a cooperative movement of churches of most denominations and many Christian groups (both Protestant and Catholic) to bring the message of Jesus Christ to all persons in North America in 1973.

Key 73

THE NOON PRAYER CALL is part . . . the very first part . . . of Key '73. The Noon Prayer effort is hundreds, thousands, millions of persons praying, individually and collectively, that millions might reach millions more for Christ in 1973, praying for guidance and strength, praying for the success of Key '73. Won't you participate with your fellow Christians in church and out of church?
